Head Start Youngsters To Get Christmas Gifts

Seventy-five Torrance students will serve as Santa's helpers Wednesday, when they depart by bus and truck for South Central Los Angeles where they will deliver toys and canned goods to Head Start youngsters.

Students from 12 Torrance schools will participate in the project in cooperation with the Delta Sigma Theta Head Start Organization. In addition, students from two high schools will play Santa to Head Start youngsters in Venice and Santa Monica.

Each gift will bear the name of the specific youngster it is intended for, according to Philip Korman, curriculum consultant. Santa's helpers will spend the day at the Head Start centers, returning to Torrance after lunch.

Student chairman of the South Central Los Angeles drive is Tom Somers, student council president at Torrance High School. Gifts from Torrance High are being contributed by the Student Council, the Tartar Ladies, and Torrance High Queen Jane Hines.

Other schools participating in the South Central Los Angeles project include: Kurt Shery High School, Lincoln Elementary School, Madison Elementary School, Steele Elementary School, Seaside Elementary School, Arnold Elementary School, Calle Mayor Elementary School, Newton Elementary School, Levy Elementary School, and Victor Wright Elementary School.

HEALTHY SUM . . . Sister M. Terrence, assistant administrator at Little Company of Mary Hospital, accepts a check for $5,000 which will be used in the hospital's foundation fund. Making the presentation were (from left), David K. Hayward, Redondo Beach councilman and a member of the hospital's Advisory Board; Joseph Drnovich, chairman of the Centurion Club; and Jimmy Visceglia, Centurion Club treasurer. The funds represent proceeds from the Founder's Day banquet and Centurion Club memberships. (Press-Herald photo)

County Seeking Site for Carson Sheriff's Station

Sites for a proposed Sheriff's Station in Carson will be studied and appraised in an attempt to find a suitable location in that city, according to Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

Chace called for the survey Tuesday. The Board of Supervisors instructed the Real Estate Management Director to look at properties in the general vicinity of Carson and Avalon boulevards.

"The need for a Sheriff's Station in Carson is becoming more apparent each day," Chace said. "The county also must develop a station in the Lomita-Palos Verdes Peninsula area."

THE FOURTH District Supervisor pointed out, however, that the need for a Carson station has been labeled "critical" by Sheriff Peter Pitchess. The plan has the full support of the Carson City Council.

"In fact, the city of Carson is anxious to develop a civic center on the same site as a Sheriff's Station if a suitable location can be found," Chace said.

Chace asked the Real Estate Department to work in close harmony with Carson officials and Sheriff Pitchess, analyzing the requirements of each agency thoroughly.

"AS OF JAN. 1, the Sheriff's Department will provide traffic enforcement for Carson and the need for a local station becomes more critical," Chace said. Presently the area is served out of Firestone Station, which is headquartered several miles away.

"Firestone Station is 13 miles from Carson City Hall," Chace said. "The topography of Carson and the surrounding area hinders expedient response from Firestone Station."

"Carson is the 15th largest city in the county in population and 9th largest in square miles," he said. "Approximately 30 cities in the state which are smaller than Carson in population have their own police departments."

Lomita Civic Center Study Set by County

Studies which could lead to the development of a Lomita Civic Center have been ordered by Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

Chace's motion for the study was approved by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. The action had been requested by the Lomita City Council.

"The County Chief Administrative officer has been instructed to coordinate the study in order to outline the needs of the county in that area," Chace said. "He will work with the city in the hopes that a city-county administrative center might be developed."

THE FOURTH District Supervisor has met with Lomita officials on the proposed civic center, and Tuesday's action was the result of these discussions.

The county owns land at 242nd Street and Narbonne Avenue. Discussions on a civic center site have centered on this location.

"We must have a list of the city and county needs in such a center before proceeding with definite plans," Chace said. "The study called for Tuesday will provide the foundation for such a plan."

Flu Virus Identified In County

CHACE pointed out that the county already leases office space for various departments in the Lomita area, including the Assessor and County Engineer.

"If an administrative center could be developed in conjunction with the city, it would centralize many county and municipal services for the convenience of the citizens," Chace said.

3 Win Parnelli Trophies

Three employees at Vel's-Parnelli Jones Ford, 20900 Hawthorne Blvd., have been awarded "Parnelli" trophies for November in the firm's program of recognizing employees for customer relations.

The winners are Cal Clark of the sales department, Sam Holt of the service department, and Grace Musheno of the office staff. They were selected by fellow employees for the honors.

In addition to individual trophies, the winners will have their names added to a permanent trophy on display at the agency.

The monthly winners, selected on the basis of courtesy and cooperation with customers, are eligible for quarterly awards such as free trips, clothing, and cash awards.

DR. JOSEPH BAY
 New President

Dr. Bay Named as President

Dr. Joseph P. Bay, a Torrance Optometrist, will be elected president of the South Bay Optometric Society tomorrow during a dinner meeting at the Indian Village Restaurant.

The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7:30.

Dr. Larry Creasey, president of the California Optometric Association, will conduct the installation ceremonies.

DR. BAY will succeed Dr. John E. Chase of the Palos Verdes Peninsula as president of the local group.

A past president of the Torrance Rotary Club and former member of the Torrance Board of Education, Dr. Bay has practiced in Torrance for the past 17 years. He is a member of the Rolling Hills Masonic Lodge and the First Presbyterian Church of San Pedro.

DR. BAY and his wife Nadine reside at 28335 Palos Verdes Drive East, Rolling Hills. They are parents of two sons, Alan, 16, and Steven, 14.

Other new officers of the society include Dr. Ray Williams of Redondo Beach, president-elect; Dr. Edwin Glover of San Pedro, secretary-treasurer; and directors Dr. A. Corwin of Redondo Beach, Dr. A. Moore of San Pedro, Dr. Albert Kline of Torrance and Dr. Eleanor Thill of Torrance.

Playful Elephant Joins Herd

Jobie, the Indian elephant, both too big and too adult for the young animals in the Los Angeles Children's Zoo, joined the Asiatic elephant herd last week in the Eurasian continent.

The mischievous female elephant reigned over the elephant compound since her arrival at the Zoo in November, 1966, a two-year rule over such animals as two California sea lions, two Baird's tapirs, and a playful guanaco.

Now, visitors to the Children's Zoo will witness the childhood antics of two newcomers — a four-month-old Indian elephant and a young black-tailed deer. As spring approaches, other youngsters will join the pair.

The baby female elephant, still unnamed, arrived at the Los Angeles facility last month. She stands only 32 inches high and plays follow-the-leader with the animal keeper, always remaining a respectful distance behind.

Warrior Trails

By Cathy Focarazzo

My favorite season has come to West High School.

What other time of the year has the magic of Christmas? It's the time of the year when people seem to give as much as they get. West is no exception.

The biggest drive is going on to gather canned goods and toys for needy children and their families. It's a successful and effective way to really get the feeling of giving.

There was class competition to further increase the income of goods which really produced a magnificent sum. The competition was between Mr. John Siskowic's and Mr. Terence McMurray's social studies classes. Mr. Siskowic's hard-working class won the event.

MR. C. WADE Andrews and the work experience class were in charge of the drive for the underprivileged. Students from his class currently are wearing red and white fur-trimmed outfits selling candy canes at 10 cents each.

I hope that this campaign for the needy has established itself in the minds of West High students as a way of sharing with others in a truly generous fashion, rather than as an obligation. People who have most of the material things of life tend to forget that they are not as fortunate as they are. When you are asked to give, you feel a small glow to know that it is really doing something worthwhile for somebody and that is what Christmas is all about.

CONGRATULATIONS go out to the Varsity basketball team for playing so well at the Pacific Shores Tournament. Although we did not win every game, the team displayed fine playing ability which is as important as winning. They look like a promising team when Bay League Basketball begins its season.

This Saturday the band majorettes, drill team, and flag girls are marching in a parade in the San Fernando Valley. West will be joined by many of the surrounding Southern California schools. It should be an exciting afternoon for those who do attend.

Concert Set

South High School will host a concert of classical and seasonal music Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, according to band director George Andrews.

Besides the South High School band, the concert will feature selections by the Madrigal choir. Tickets will be available at the door.
